PORT CAPACITY

for site

SITE 3 - Server Farm

Report Introduction

The Port Capacity Report provides an overview of the port utilization and availability across your network devices. This report includes information about the status of ports, including those that are up, down, administratively down, or in an error state.

The report includes a summary table showing overall network port statistics and a detailed table breaking down port status for each device in the network.

This report can be used to identify potential capacity issues, underutilized devices, and areas where port optimization might be necessary.
